WHAT IS SPIRIT?

Spirit is the breath of life among many other definitions. What is the spirit of Clover Hill? What is that certain something that breathes life into a building made of brick, concrete, metal, glass, and other inanimate matter into a living entity?

IT IS YOU . . .

THE STUDENTS

THE FACULTY

THE ADMINISTRATION

THE COMMUNITY

THE SERVICE EMPLOYEES

Your disposition of mind, intellectual curiosity, enthusiastic loyalty, the warmth of friendships, the sparkle of youth, the energy, the life . . . these are but a few of those intangibles YOU bring to Clover Hill. This is what makes a building not just a school, but a living place, a cherished Alma Mater.

CHESTERFIELD COUNTY (VA)
LIBRARY

In its second year, Clover Hill's sense of identity is well defined. There is no question in our minds or anyone else's that we are Cavaliers . . . and that we are very proud of being Cavaliers!

Last year when the school first opened, there were no visual symbols to identify the latest addition to the Chesterfield school system or its student body. When the idea of calling ourselves Cavaliers was first conceived few persons even knew what a Cavalier looked like. Historical research on the costumes of the Cavaliers brought into play Van Dyke's portrait of Charles I of England in full period costume. His proud face served Beth Condrey as the model for the symbol of Clover Hill.

Soon the Cavalier image was to become a popular sight around the school and Chesterfield County. Visitors to the school gym can not miss the 12 foot Cavalier mural painted on the gym wall last year by two art students with the words: "Home of the Cavaliers." The most popular and more widely used version is Beth's bust of the Cavalier with the plumed hat.

Other enterprising art students constructed a 4 foot by 6 foot mosaic delineating this now familiar face in Venetian glass tile. The mosaic was used as a part of Clover Hill's exhibit on display at the County Fair in the early Fall and now permanently adorns a wall facing one of the school's front entrances.

The Cavalier image has been reproduced in many varied items such as: posters, programs, pins, notebooks, band banner, football helmet, basketball warm-up jackets, bumper stickers, coffee mugs, typewriter covers and even Friesbees. Two ambitious ninth grade art students have constructed a 6 foot sculpture of a Cavalier.

A SENSE OF IDENTITY IS NECESSARY IN PROMOTING SCHOOL SPIRIT

Student teacher, Buddy Terrell and art student Darryl Lloyd assist in arranging Clover Hill's display at County Fair.

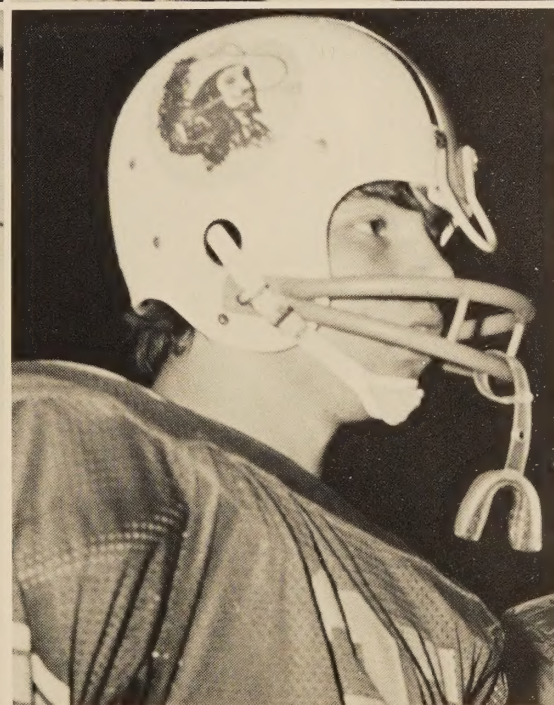

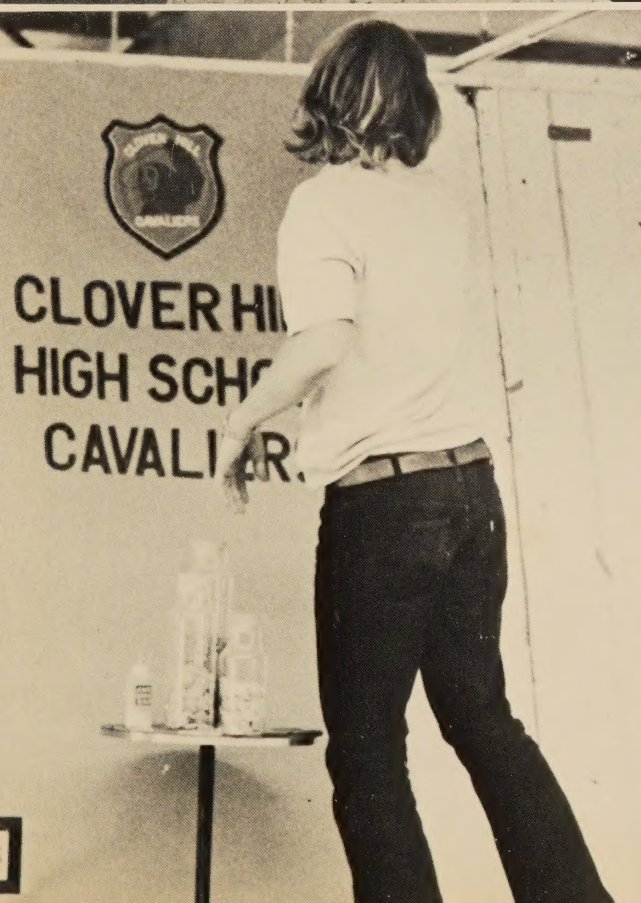

Billy Clarke puts finishing touches on Cavalier mosaic after it was installed on the wall. Although many different students worked in this project Billy took a lasting interest in its completion.

Jimmy Baggerly wears his Cavalier button on his sprained wrist bandage. As a Key club member he helps raising and taking down flags every day.

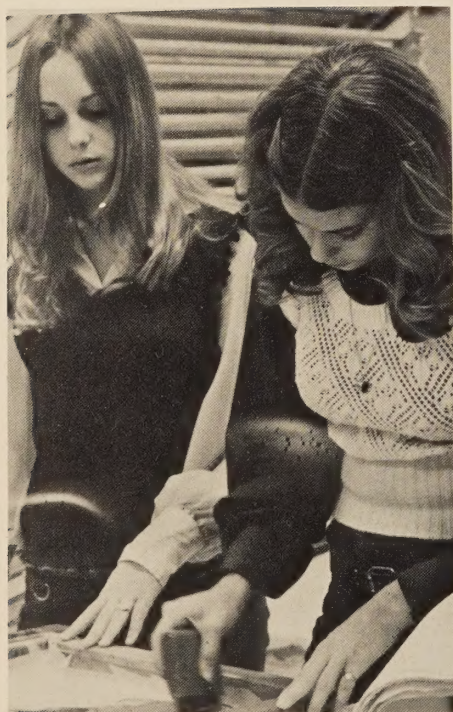

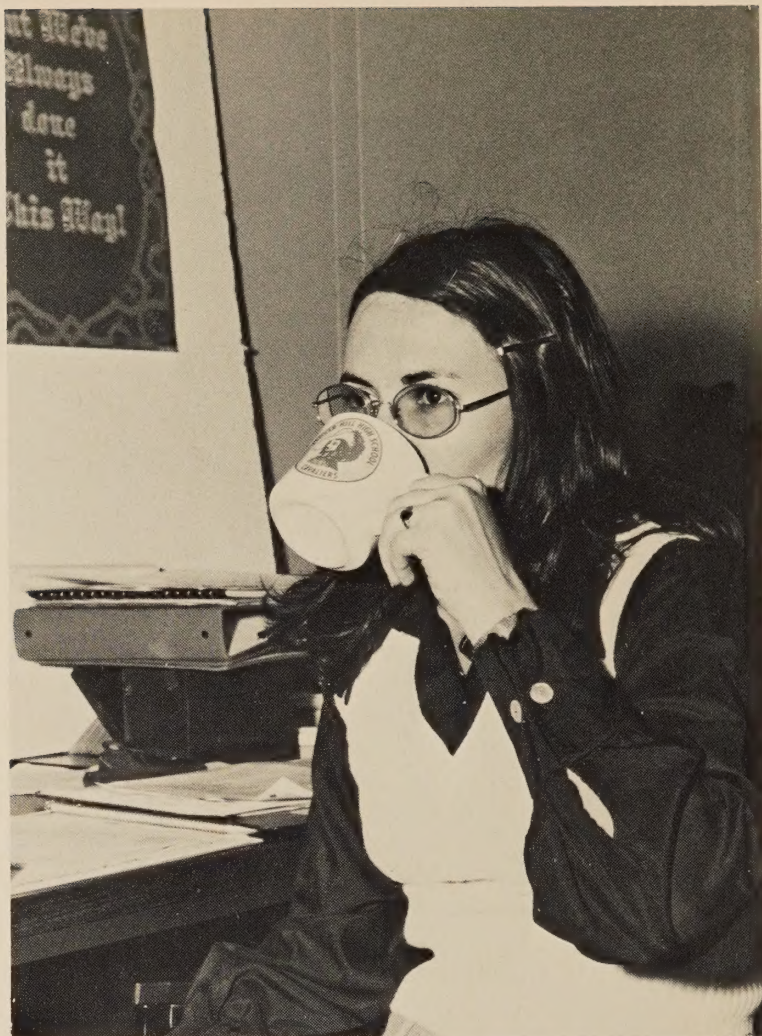

The Color Guard, represented by Donna Taylor, sold frisbees at Inter-club Carnival.

Easily identifiable as a Cavalier football player, Clayton Mitchell awaits word to go into the game.

CAVALIERS ON EVERYTHING ...

Miss Carolyn Prillaman, Mathematics Department, takes a coffee break from her duties as attendance officer. Drinking from her Cavalier coffee mug reinforces the saying from the poster on her office wall: "But we have always done it this way!"

Patty Bell, a member of FBLA, silk screens Cavaliers on typewriter covers. Assisting her is fellow art student Terri Pollock.

DECA CLUB PROMOTES CAVALIER IMAGE

Distributive Education students Debbie Franklin and Kathy Belcher display posters bearing the Clover Hill Cavalier.

Terry Lawler and Bill Rudd dress mannequins with Cavalier T-Shirts.

CAVALIERS PROJECT IMAGE

Cavalier Color Guard members Carolyn Bell (sargeant), Donna Taylor (lieutenant) and Patti Bell (corporal) stand at attention with Charlene Taylor (commander) and banner carriers Joyce Richardson and Debbie Welton.

Trumpet players Maury Beck and Larry Thompson model Clover Hill's new uniforms for concert and marching bands.

Along with the rest of the Cavalettes, Nancy Boyd and Pam Hartman salute for the National Anthem.

Without a doubt, the most colorful marching units in the area are seen when Clover Hill takes to the parade grounds. An eyeful in their green, gold and white school colors, flashing black patent leather boots and hats with flowing white plumes, the marching band makes an impressive display of the Cavalier image in action. Marching along with the band, the Color Guard dressed in gold uniforms with plumed berets, twirl their flags and carry the colors and the Cavalier banner. A welcome addition this year is the pom pom squad: the Cavalettes. They complete Clover Hill's colorful parade picture in their green outfits with white and gold accessories. Not shown in these groups are our two majorettes Cathy Browning and Kim Conner, who add much to the glamour of our marching units.

We take pride in all these groups for they reflect their pride in representing our school. Colorful and competently trained, they do much in asserting our sense of Identity, by projecting the image of the Cavalier, the Spirit of Clover Hill!

People wandering into Pasquale's Pizza parlor in Chippenham Mall on Wednesday evenings this fall see two things about the bass fiddle which tend to make them out in a crowd.

The first, and most is his outfit: bib overalls and white checked straw hat and frizzy hair. The second is his age. At 17, Lux is a professional musician.

The group to which Billy belongs is known as "The Richmond Bluegrass Symphony," a bluegrass ensemble playing parties, contests and other engagements in the area.

Summer vacation means the end of school work and responsibilities for the majority of the students at Clover Hill, but there are certain activities that go into the summer before they come to an end. Others start early, long before classes begin and the heat of the summer is no excuse for lack of participation. Workshops, summer camps, daily practice, preparation, frantic yearbook deadlines, more proofreading . . . hard work while others relax and enjoy the summer vacation. Students sweating under the broiling sun with the football team, the marching band or the color guard while they might have been swimming in the cool waters of the nearby reservoir. Summer workshops for S.C.A. and Yearbook, summer camps for J.V. cheerleaders and Color Guard . . . this is the summer vacation for some of your fellow students and some group sponsors.

In these few photographs we honor the total SPIRIT OF DEDICATION not only of those shown in these pages but of all who think enough of YOU and of our school to give of themselves, to go that extra mile for CLOVER HILL . . . not just during the summer, but the whole year through.

Spirit of Dedication

Headlines on opposite page show that all departments are really striving to make Clover Hill the best there is.

Janis Hightower and Mrs. Waters, sponsor, take a break from completing the 1973 yearbook to attend a four day workshop at Longwood College. One of the classes brought them in contact with Ralph Van Dyke, Delmar's artist to discuss ideas in art work for the 1974 book. Below: Janis finds time to compare notes with yearbook staff members from other schools.

Karla Burchett, Kendall Cashion and Gloria Roberson leave for cheerleading summer camp at Randolph Macon Women's College. Karla Burchett, Mrs. Kaempf, sponsor, Cathy Martin, captain, Nita Burchett, co-captain, Becky Flotz, and Gayle Rudd prepare for the trip to camp.

SUMMER VACATION FINDS SOME HARD AT WORK

Shirley Kinton and Barbara Turner (two of the five Color Guard members who attended the summer workshop) practice their twirling routines at Tarheel Twirling Camp in North Carolina.

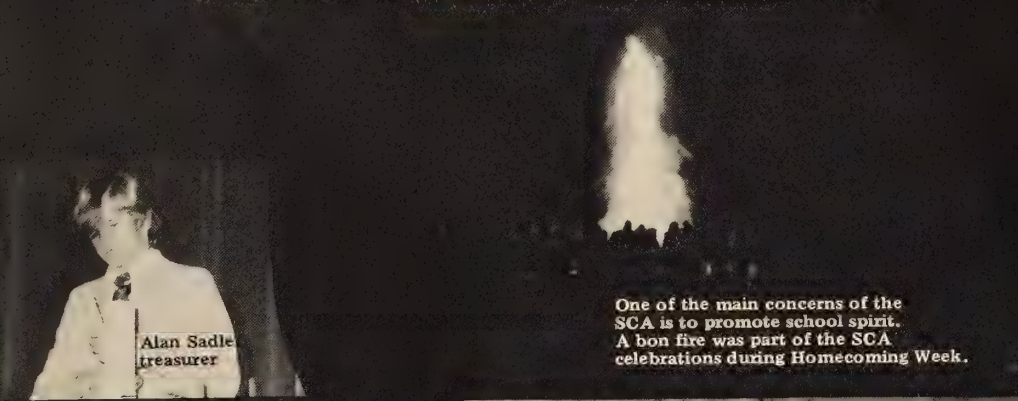

There is nothing like a cool drink during summer football practice. Players must get used to playing in full uniform and it can get pretty hot under it all.

During School Spirit Week Debbie Casey won SCA patch contest with a total of 306 patches.

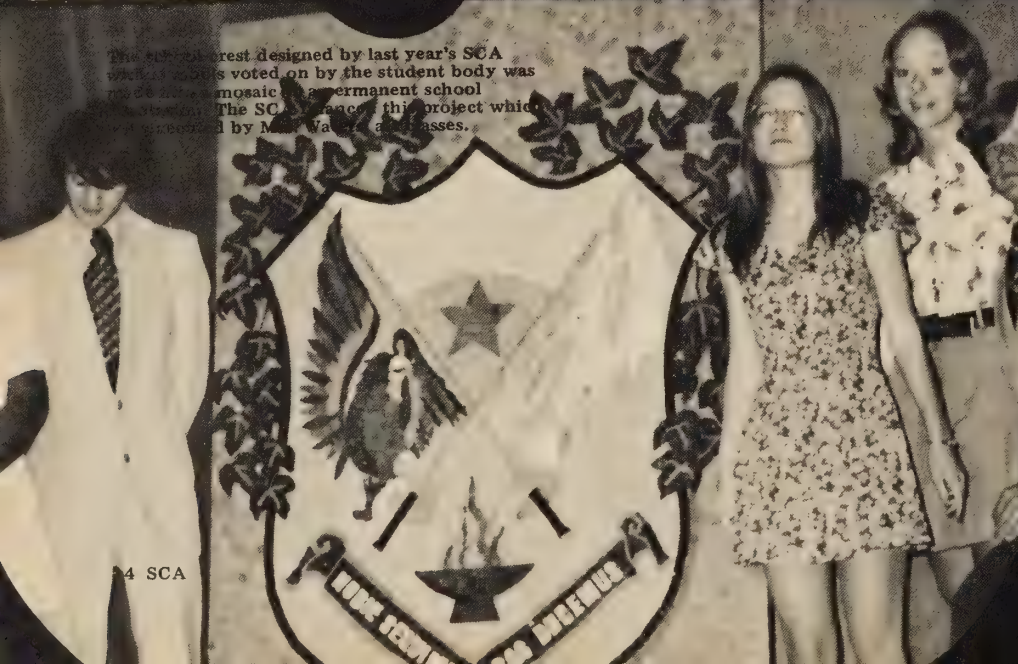

Homecoming activities, the SCA's most elaborate activity, lasts a whole week. Homecoming Queen Diane Wilson is crowned by our first queen Debbie Jones.

One of the main concerns of the SCA is to promote school spirit. A bon fire was part of the SCA celebrations during Homecoming Week.

Debbie Jones re-lives her cheerleading days during SCA Fifties Week. Concluding the week with a Fifties Dance, the SCA raised money for the March of Dimes.

Donnie Tyler and Jimmy Baggerly assume the duties of raising and taking down the flag as a service of the Key Club.

Decorating athletes' lockers is one of the many ways of saying that the Color Guard cares. Charlene Taylor and Debbie Welton decorate a locker on the day of a football game.

Mike Walthall assists with the science department animal care center. A primary requisite is that helpers are not afraid of crawly things.

Decorating goalposts is traditionally a responsibility of the cheerleaders. Phyllis West and Cindy Cason cover the posts with Cavalier colors.

PRINCIPAL NAMED OUTSTANDING YOUNG EDUCATOR

The Chesterfield Jaycees named Mr. Robert V. Lewis, Clover Hill Principal, Outstanding Young Educator of the year. This is a well deserved recognition for his efforts in organizing a new school and the image that Mr. Lewis has projected to all who come in contact with him.

To be considered for this recognition an educator must be between 21 and 35 years of age, must be recommended by administrators in the school system, and must have shown outstanding leadership. Mr. Lewis was selected by a three-member committee from the superintendent's office.

This is the first time that this award has been given by the Jaycees in Chesterfield and they expect to continue the award each year. The award—a plaque—was presented to Mr. Lewis at the Jaycees Bosses Night banquet in January.

The plaque with Mr. Lewis' name engraved in it will remain in the Chesterfield School Administration building, and each year the recipient's name will be added. The purpose of OYE is to foster better relations through Jaycee-educator contacts by creating a greater public interest in understanding the problems encountered by educators.

Center—Easily approached by faculty and students alike Mr. Lewis receives certificate of appreciation from Jane Estes president of FBPA. Left—A big surprise to the student body was Mr. Lewis' characterization of a "hood" of the 50's in SCA show.

JESSE OWENS COMES TO CLOVER HILL

Clover Hill High School was privileged this year by having Olympic Gold Medalist Jesse Owens visit our school. The Future Homemakers of America served a luncheon in his honor with guests ranging from local athletes to area sportscasters.

Owens, who is considered by many sports experts the greatest track and field athlete of the half century, set new Olympic records in 1936 in the 100 meter run, 200 meter run, and broad jump. He also ran on the record setting relay team.

In 1955, the U.S. State Department delegated Owens as America's "Ambassador of Sports" and the following year sent him to Australia as one of President Eisenhower's personal representatives at the 16th Olympiad.

Today, Owens continues to gain respect and honor, not only for his athletic achievements, but also because of his many activities in youth community service.

Competition is evident throughout the school year as students participate in a variety of sports ranging from archery, volleyball, bowling, putt-putt to basketball and football. Even during the heat of the battle most Clover Hill students hold an attitude of friendly competition. Within these athletic activities the unseen spirit of sportsmanship is present at all times. Sportsmanship is the hidden part of competition which is mental rather than physical, spiritually rewarding rather than just playing for the final scores. The physical aspect is one part of athletics. Sportsmanship is the other. It involves being a gracious winner as well as a gracious loser. Sportsmanship dictates that one listens attentively to the directions of instructors and coaches and follow these directions whether you agree with them or not. It also means accepting decisions by referees and umpires unquestioningly. Athletes must be opponents, but not enemies. Clover Hill's teams and gym classes display good sportsmanship, but competition is not hindered. It is tougher than ever.

CLOVER HILL SCORES !

Steve Carson, Co-captain of 1973-74 Squad.

Much to the surprise of the James River District, the Cavaliers established themselves as worthy contenders in the 1973 football season. The Cavaliers compiled a 3-7 record and proved that they no longer have the "first-year jitters" and are capable of proudly representing Clover Hill as a key athletic threat in the area. This year's co-captains, Butch Clarke and Steve Carson, led the squad to their first victory and on to a very impressive season.

In the opening game of the season, Mike McKinney and Rudy Brown both ran for touchdowns against a strong Powhatan football team. This was not enough, however, as Powhatan defeated Clover Hill 36-12. These two key touchdowns foreshadowed the season which was in store for the Cavaliers. The next game proved to be a key defensive battle as the Goochland Bulldogs nipped the Cavaliers 6-0. This game also showed the Cavalier's strength and hinted that victory was near. Then it happened! On Friday night, September 21, 1973, the Cavaliers were involved in a brutal gridiron battle. They went into the locker room at halftime with a 6-0 lead. The second half was some of the most exciting football that our fans had seen. The Clover Hill defense showed their power as they held Central of Lunenburg throughout the whole second half and came up with the first Cavalier victory.

The next win was a 12-0 victory over Prince Edward. This was a very notable victory as it was the Homecoming Game and it made the spirit of Clover Hill's first "real" Homecoming all the more enjoyable. The third and final victory was the last game of the season as Clover Hill met Central of Sussex in a very exciting football contest. The Cavaliers won this game by a score of 21-0.

This year's squad was under the direction of Coach Odenwelder and Mr. Brinson, Mr. Salmon, Mr. Hedley, Mr. Carter and Mr. Jenkins, Assistant Coaches.

With enthusiasm and determination the 1973 Girl's Basketball Team attacked a difficult 18-game schedule with top notch competition provided by the James River District. Veterans returning from last year's squad were this year's co-captains Cathy Wellman and Teresa Lacy, also Helen Overstreet, Beth Burton, and Pam Handwerk joined by promising new recruits Barbara Williams and Debbie Livesay. Coaching the team this year was Mrs. Gail Young who worked extremely hard in preparing the girls for the task at hand. Assisting Mrs. Young were Varsity Basketball Coach Bostain and Junior Varsity Coach Mike Ely who helped in coaching the girl's team last year. Whenever possible these coaches would come in and instruct the girls individually.

Tryouts and practice began early in September. Many times the team was forced to practice outdoors because the gymnasium was not available. But against these odds the team still worked diligently. This season was one of learning to play together and gaining experience for the many young players. Most of the team will be returning next season and the outlook for Clover Hill's girl's basketball team is bright.

CAVALIERS OVERCOME LACK OF HEIGHT IN LINE-UP

The 1973-74 basketball season brought Cavalier fans mystery as well as excitement. With numerous offensive and defensive patterns, signals were continuously flashed back and forth between coaches and players. Spectators watched this "language" in amazement. How can the players "talk" to the coaches and vice-versa using their hands and not their mouths? The answer lies in long hours of practice before game night when offensive and defensive patterns were introduced to the squad. Both Head Coach Bostain and Junior Varsity Coach Ely placed emphasis on fast-breaking offenses and pressing defenses with a variety of each. Conditioning and the finer points of the game such as shooting, rebounding, fast-breaking techniques were focused on during practices. The coaches worked individually with the players in their spare time.

Clover Hill faced stiff competition, including games against strong "AAA" teams Manchester and J.R. Tucker. The Cavaliers met Cumberland in their first district game and in a frenzied finish fell short by a single point. This type of game was typical as Cavalier fans saw many close and exciting games. A climactic point was the overtime game with Fluvanna. A good regular season record gained Clover Hill players a tournament playoff berth against Prince Edward. The annual Chesterfield County Christmas Tournament in which Clover Hill usually participates was cancelled as the county athletics share in helping with the energy crisis.

The season ended but basketball at Clover Hill did not. Fans from the area had the chance to view state championship competition as the "A" Regional Basketball Tournament was held here.

The Cavaliers are young and still gaining in experience. With only one graduating senior, Tommy Gunn, the team will have four starters returning. Rising Junior Varsity players will also add to the team's strength. All of this suggests that Clover Hill has the potential to be a top-notch contender in the James River District.

TRACK IS A FAMILY AFFAIR

The spirit of sportsmanship and the urge to compete seems to run in certain families: Schoonovers, McBrides, and Leakes. The three clans had graduating seniors but the younger members will remain to carry on the family tradition.

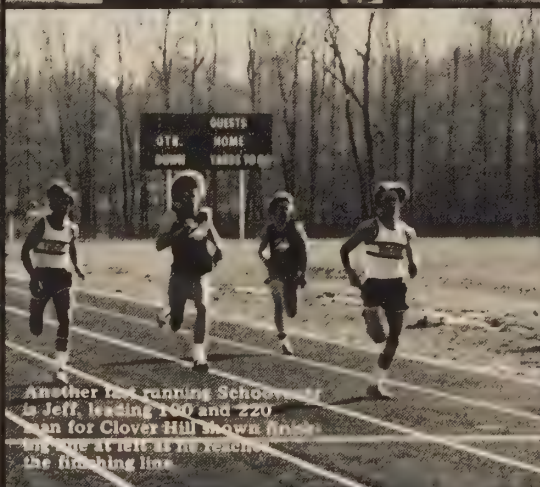

Eddie, one of several McBrides participating in track, gains distance on Rodney and Bobby. Eddie congratulates brother John after setting a new school record for the 100 yard run.

Starts his run at an easy pace.

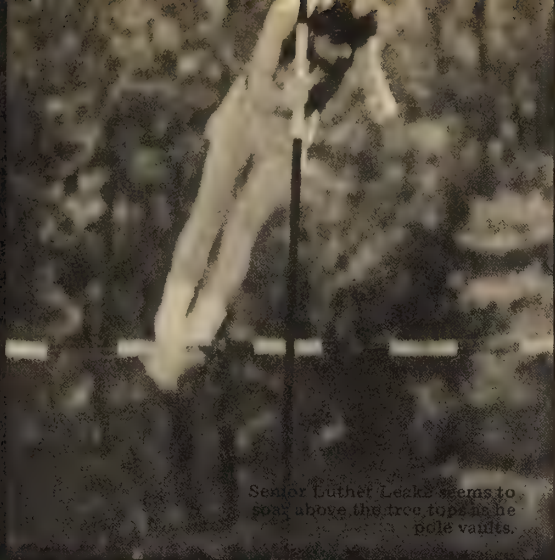

... soon overtaking his Tucker opponent and (below) on to the finish line well ahead of the rest.

Another fast running Schoonover is Jeff, leading 100 and 220 yard races for Clover Hill shown finishing line at left as he reaches the finishing line.

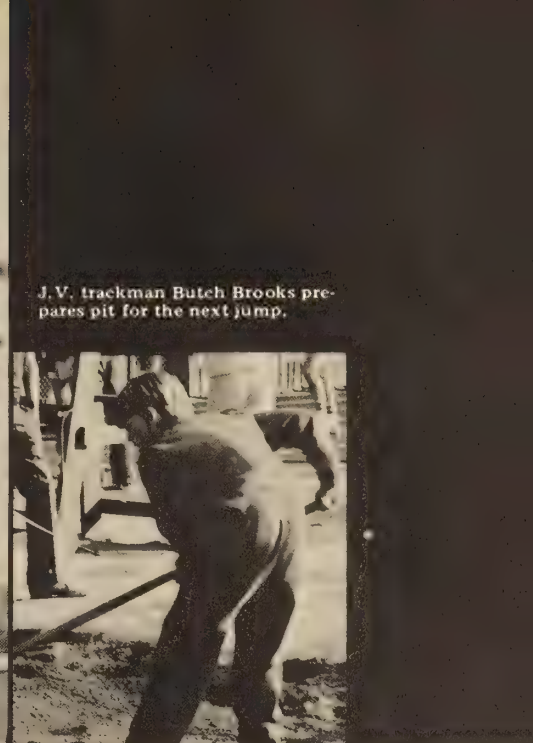

Senior Luther Leake seems to soar above the tree tops as he pole vaults.

Placing sixth in state competition, Scott Gentry establishes a 12'3" pole vault school record.

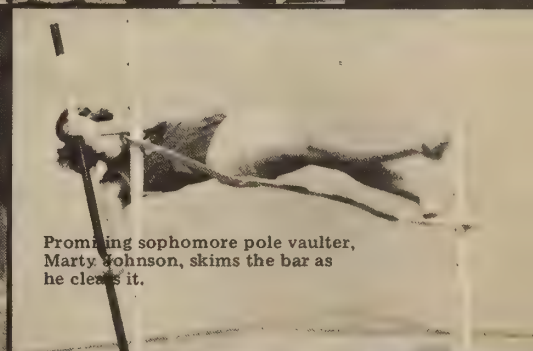

J.V. trackman Butch Brooks prepares pit for the next jump.

Mr. Ely observes Senior Butch Clarke's fine discus throwing form.

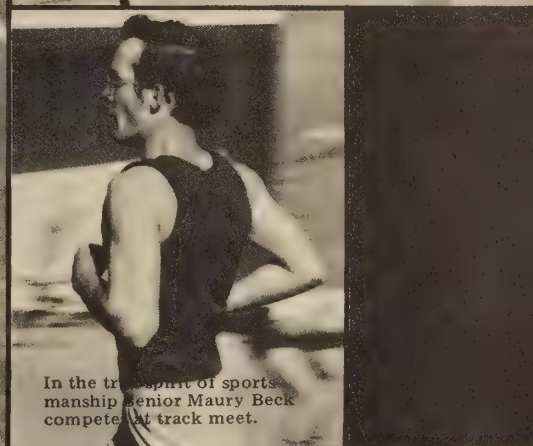

Senior Harold Green leaves Clover Hill with a 53.6 second record in the 440 yard dash for others to live up to.

Promising sophomore pole vaulter, Marty Johnson, skims the bar as he clears it.

Ever Hines only a sport, German John Sanders scores a 123'0" discus throw.

In the transport of sports, manship Senior Maury Beck competes at track meet.

Our first all Girls' Tennis Team discovered there were no James River District A schools with all girl teams, but found strong competition in AA and AAA schools in the area. Little practice time was available for the team but they remained spirited and competitive throughout the season.

Debbie Livesay, the teams #1 player, and Pam Roberts, the #2 player, won a majority of their matches and accounted for many of Clover Hill's points. A tremendous improvement was evident in the performance of all players.

BOYS TENNIS

Mark Rogers and William Johnson, two vastly improved players, team up to compete in a doubles match.

A good return for Doug James, as he stretches for a backhand.

Marty Blackmon anxiously awaits the serve of his partner in double competition.

A youthful team and the first all male tennis team strove for strength and experience. There was only one junior on the squad but the rest were freshmen and sophomores looking for good match competition. All of the opponents were Class AA or AAA, and from schools with much higher enrollment than Clover Hill.

Mike Varnier was the team's captain and number one ranked player. William Johnson provided many individual victories and all players improved greatly throughout the season. The managers for the 1973-74 season were Linda Vass, Cecil Blanks, and Patti Bell. They often helped with equipment, score-keeping, and cleaning Clover Hill's top-notch tennis courts. Support for the team was good and parents turned out for every match.

Coach Doyle Brinson is confident his once inexperienced players will develop into polished performers. The team as a whole continued to gain confidence, poise, and determination and it appears to be a good bet that Clover Hill will feature a hustling, willing tennis team in future years to come.

GIRLS SOFTBALL TEAM DONS NEW UNIFORMS

The Clover Hill Girls Softball team donned their new uniforms this year. Donated by the Optimist Club of Chesterfield the uniforms added color to a once dull softball field. The team followed up with an enthusiastic attitude and a competitive spirit. Due to excessive bad weather many games had to be rescheduled or cancelled. The postponement of the opening Clover Hill vs. Powhatan game led to the school's first doubleheader, played at Powhatan. Another unique fact of the season was the providing of official umpires (from the Umpires Association) by the Cavaliers. No other James River District team did this. Coaching the team this season was Mrs. Lavage, assisted by student teacher Miss Shaw. Although they worked the team hard, rain hindered practice considerably. The team improved regardless and many good hitters developed such as Debra Malone, Cindy Harris, Karen Finn, and Teresa Lacy. Excellent pitching was provided by Bernice Harris, winner of the Team's Most Valuable Player Trophy. Debra Malone did a fine job at catcher and received the Sportsmanship Award. Nancy Spivey was this season's manager.

Cathy Wellman fields a grounder, then throws to first to record an out.

Displaying a joyful sigh of relief, outfielder Sherian Stone scores a run for the Cavaliers.

won second place award. Competing in the gymnastics meet held at Hopewell, Va., ninth grader Vicky Raikes placed fifth on beam and fourth for team; sixth grader Melinda Conyers was fifth on vaulting; tenth grader Donna Christian was eighth for team and last but not least the team star Joetta Conyers, eighth grader, was first on floor exercise, second on beam and third on vaulting.

SUCCESS COMES WITH SECOND SEASON

The 1974 Clover Hill baseball season was a big success as the Cavaliers compiled a (11-6) overall record and a (9-5) district record which earned them third place in the James River District. The Cavaliers, coming off last year's struggling season, showed vast improvement and their success should continue through next season for they will lose only one player from this year's squad.

Kerry Burchett, the only senior, and Larry Harmon were this year's co-captains. They proved themselves worthy of this title many times throughout the season. The Cavaliers were led by the fine coaching talents of Head Coach, Marshall Pearman and Assistant Coach, Ron Woody who doubled as batting coach and third base coach.

The leading hitters for the team were Larry Harmon (.510), Kerry Burchett (.333), and Duane Freeman (.306).

Kerry and Duane along with John Landers provided the pitching strength until Kerry (5-0, .96 ERA) suffered a shoulder pull midway through the season. Duane and John carried the load successfully through the balance of the season.

Kerry Burchett, co-captain and only senior on the team, loosens up before stepping to the plate.

FACULTY DEFEATS FREAKISH FIVE

In an exciting game the Clover Hill male faculty defeated the Freakish Five, WLEE's basketball team, with a score of 80 to 69. Coached by Mr. Pearman, our team managed to stay a couple of points ahead of the Freakish Five throughout the game.

Our faculty was in great form. Mr. Pritchett stayed in three minutes and scored, Mr. Bostain made five rebounds and even Mr. Odenwelder made a basket. It came as a surprise to the students to find out that our drama teacher, Mr. Strong, was right in there with the best. Mr. Woody was a referee.

Half-time proved equally interesting with the Bowman Body of WXEX-TV in his vampire attire giving out photographs and autographs. The Freakish Five seem to have left a lasting impression on our faculty players. Perhaps some found themselves too clean shaven in comparison, for after Christmas several showed up with more than a 5 o'clock shadow. (see opposite page).

THE AFTERMATH... BEARDED TEACHERS...

WITHOUT THEIR SPIRIT OF COOPERATION... WOULD THE SCHOOL SURVIVE?

Above—Seldom seen in this relaxed mood, Mr. Herbert Pappin, our “one and only” Sarge, bears the responsibility for upkeep of the school building and grounds. His spirit of cooperation goes above and beyond the call of duty.

Right—Pleasant, efficient, fighting the rising cost of foods, our cafeteria personnel, under the leadership of Mrs. Hill, manage to keep the students well fed. Top to Bottom—Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Mary Lynch and Mrs. Agnes Pettus, Mrs. Peggy Cooley and Mrs. Georgine Moore, Mrs. Bea Marlowe (who cares for the faculty cafeteria) and Mrs. Bernice Lester who handles the Grange Hall “Satellite lunches”. Foods prepared at Clover Hill are carried to Grange Hall in special containers to be served hot.

The Spirit of Cooperation is that certain something that brings success into any endeavor. Cooperation is basically team-work, people striving together toward common goals and aspirations. While generally we think of team-work in relation to sports, this is just one aspect of cooperative effort. It is also seen in individuals who enjoy helping others in school clubs and organizations, bands, marching units, class groups which could not function effectively without the cooperation of its members.

At Clover Hill, the spirit of Cooperation is always in evidence: from the administration, teachers, students, sponsors, coaches to the service personnel, who really could not function without the cooperation of the student body. Cooperation brings about unity into any enterprise, for without unity there is confusion and in unity there is strength and success.

GROOVING AND NEEDLING

Mr. John Squires, Director of Guidance, grooves new report cards assisted by Mrs. Phyllis Motley, Guidance Secretary. Mr. Squires, keeper of the records, is confident that the new reporting system will simplify record keeping in the guidance department.

Mrs. Mildred Valz, Senior Guidance Counselor, demonstrates the needling technique which will sort out students by coded categories.

Her duties requiring that she visit feeder schools, Mrs. Magnolia Patron, Guidance Counselor, is happy to leave the needling and grooving.

Change came to Clover Hill in the form of a new reporting system for the 1973-74 school term. This system uses a nine-week grading period instead of the traditional six-weeks, with an interim attitudinal report every 4½ weeks. The interim report informs the parents of the student's attitude during class which may later affect the nine-week grade. Such seemingly trivial categories as doing assigned work willingly, participating in class activities, using time wisely, classroom behavior, or any of the other eleven categories are supposed to tell parents how the student is doing in school and as a reminder to those who need to improve their performance before the nine-weeks ends.

A closer look at the report cards will put into perspective just how much time and effort a teacher must put into each report. There are eleven spaces for attitudinal grades (E for Excellent, S for Satisfactory, and U for Unsatisfactory), which multiplied by eight (the number of times report cards go out), means a teacher gives a student 88 attitudinal grades per year. There are also twelve spaces for letter grades, including an exam grade each time. By the end of the year a student will have received 100 grades and if a teacher has 125 students, he or she will have to give 12,500 grades during the year.

The student's feelings about the new reporting system vary greatly. Some do not like them because they go out too often and tell the parents too much. Others say that the cards are not fair to them because the teachers do not get to know the students well enough with the first report to give attitudinal grades accurately. This is especially true with mini-courses.

Some wish we had attitudinal reports only and not the regular letter grades. Still other students like the report cards and are satisfied with them the way they are. As far as the exams are concerned, the majority like the idea of having them four times a year, as they have less to study than when they were taking them only twice.

After the students take their reports home, the parents retain the grades and return the signed envelopes to the school.

Mr. Howard Foster, ready to give out grades collects envelopes from Danny Morgan, Russell Wood and David Bales.

Roy A. Alcorn Chapter

Born within each individual, buried in the recesses of the mind, lie countless talents and abilities we may not be aware of. Some minds are vigorous, active and probing while others require labor and cultivation for the simplest tasks in life.

Once the function of the teacher was to impart knowledge; that of the student to absorb and to show results in tests without concern for the lasting quality of this type of learning. Contemporary education places more emphasis on INQUIRY AND EXPERIMENTATION. The role of the teacher is to kindle the mind, to act as a catalyst that activates those hidden talents and abilities within us. "Doing" is the thing today; to learn by doing where once we learned from the experience of others. We seek wisdom through our own experiences and observation.

There is no limit to the exercise of intellect, and free inquiry is a privilege no longer denied a student with an active mind. Every possible opportunity is given the student to learn at his or her own level of comprehension. Through independent study some students can pursue areas of INQUIRY AND EXPERIMENTATION, not practical within the traditional classes. A first hand experience has a more lasting value and is more meaningful to the individual. Learning either from your own experience or that of others builds character, develops the intellect and provides power to serve yourself and others.

Spirit of Inquiry and Experimentation

LEARNING BY DOING IS THEIR THING

Right— Clover Hill's newest and most controversial neighbor, the proposed development of Brandermill is expected to be the largest neighborhood attending Clover Hill. Their public relations representative Clarke Plaxco discussed site planning projects prepared by Mr. Strickland's social studies students with Queen Harris and Nancy Lewis. On site maps were provided by Brandermill.

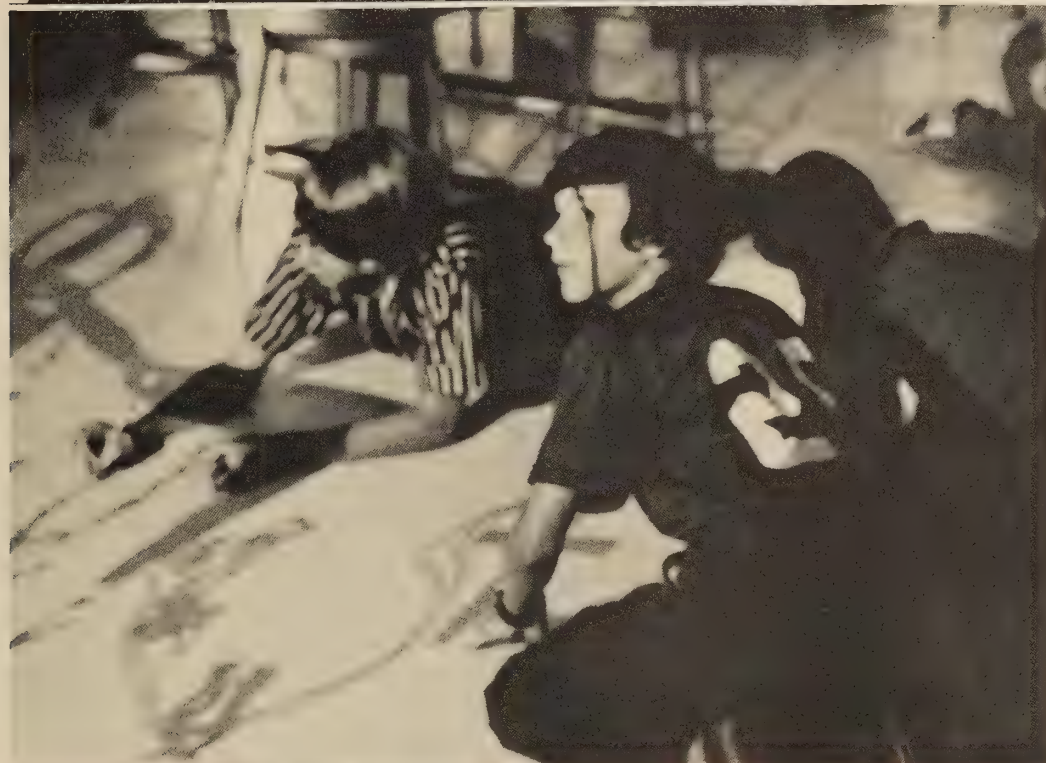

Above— Intent on exploring the possibilities of shop power equipment 7th graders Glynn Lewis and William Hodge concentrate on the task at hand. Center— Seventh graders Jeff Osterbind and Scott Champion discuss with teacher proper use of electric drill. Right— F.H.A. members get practical experience in entertaining. Angela Harris, Hazel Harris, Karen Finn and Cindy Harris serve luncheon in honor of famous Olympic track star Jesse Owen.

Working on an independent study project in advanced science, Kenny Hall and Luther Leake assemble an electronic oscilloscope switch.

Top Right— Art students Beth Burton and Patty Bell as well as Susan Moore, Sheryl Dimowski, and Kathy Schutte (above) roast weiners in the embers of bon fire. Advanced art students explored the primitive method of firing pottery outdoors rather than in the electric kiln generally used in class.

Opposed by some parents and considered by a few as a morbid exposure of young people to the realities of death, this English mini-course for ninth grade English students survived its first year at Clover Hill under the enthusiastic leadership of Mrs. Mary Jo Lux. Through readings, films, speakers and field trips to a funeral home and cemetery, the course offered an overview of the social, medical, religious, and financial aspects of death.

STUDY OF DEATH KINDLES STUDENTS INTEREST

Death, the ultimate reality is feared by most; yet it is as natural to die as to be born. As a remedy against the fear and apprehension we develop a readiness to understand and accept death as a natural part of life that must be faced by all.

FORENSICS TEAM SHINES AT DISTRICT MEET

Clover Hill High School swept five of nine first-place awards in the James River District forensics meet held recently at Longwood College.

Clover Hill contestants placed among the top three in all nine categories, amassing a total score of 21. Buckingham High School finished second with a score of 12.

First-place winners from Clover Hill were Sylecia Janutolo, girls original oratory; Laura Lane, girls prose reading; Donald Jamison, boys extemporaneous; Ron Mancini, boys prose reading; and Garland Turner, spelling.

Runners-up from Clover Hill included Gail Griffin, second in girls poetry reading; Eddie McBride, second in boys original oratory; Beth Condrey, third in girls extemporaneous; and Doug James, third in boys poetry reading.

HISTORY STUDENTS ROUGH IT IN THE MOUNTAINS

Seeking to learn from nature, U.S. History students left their plush carpeted classrooms at Clover Hill for a two day camping field trip at Virginia's scenic Skyline Drive. The students were participating in a special program sponsored by the National Environmental Studies Agency called "Man on the Mountain." The idea was a return to nature that would create an awareness of how man relates to his environment.

Under the guidance of Mr. Del Driver and Mr. Marshall Pearman, history teachers, the students gathered wood, prepared their meals, observed the wildlife in the area, and carried out projects dealing with nature and ecology. One of the projects involved collecting and classifying litter, both natural and man-made and separating it into different categories.

There is much to be learned from the mountains and communing with nature, mainly that man is just a part of nature and that education relates to many things that are not to be found in a textbook.

Mr. Pearman supervises chow line.

Ronnie Dawson, Steve Kesler and Donald Hopkins collect and classify litter in their assigned area.

An unexpected night visitor follows Mr. Pearman's scent.

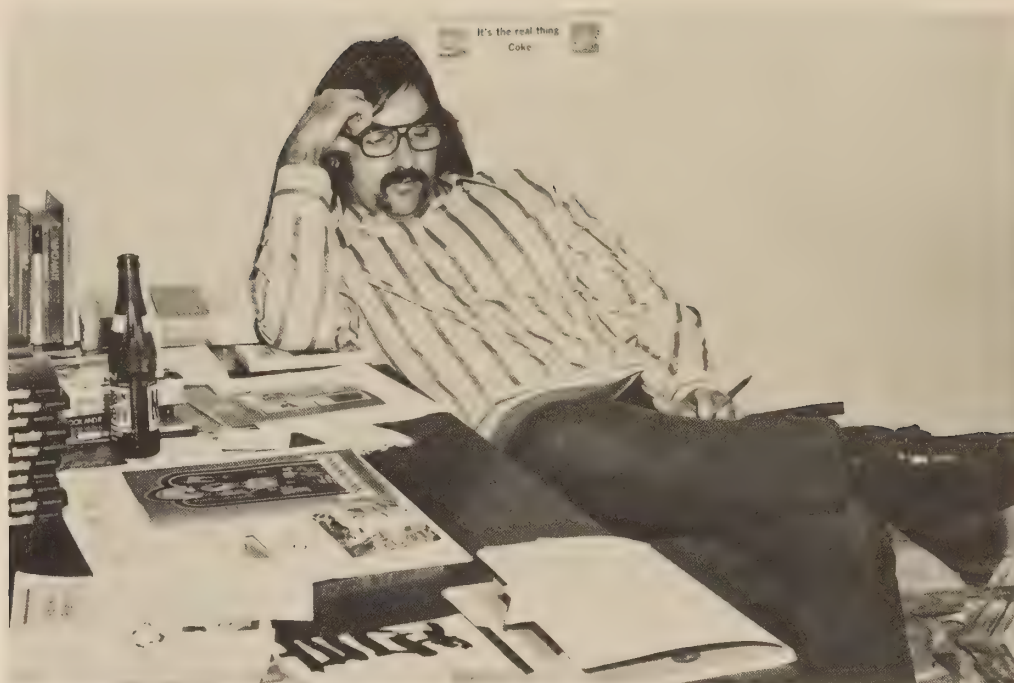

There is nothing like mountain air to improve Teresa Lacy's appetite.

Working on an ecology project the class searches along the mountainside.

SOME LEARN FROM BOOKS OTHERS BY DOING

Above— Mr. Doyle Brinson, English teacher, studies the materials he will use in his lesson plans.

Below— Mr. Ed Faulkner, Mathematics and Science teacher, supervises the testing of a program written by 8th grader Bill Ammerman, a member of the computer club. The Computer is hooked up by telephone to the Mathematics and Science Center.

DOING IS THE THING THROUGHOUT ALL CLASSES

Left Bottom— Randy Rollins observes the behavior of a frog under different temperatures. Mr. Wagoner, science teacher, supervises the experiment.

THINK BIG!

"THINK BIG!" says art teacher Mrs. Cen Waters to her art classes . . . and this is what happens! Clover Hill's first juried art show turned the Media Center into an art gallery.

CAVALIER WITH A HEART

Above—The first three dimensional representation of Clover Hill's symbol: the Cavalier, was created by two ninth grade art students. Also thinking BIG, Charles Blankenship and Davey Butler constructed a six-foot Cavalier using assorted materials such as: wire, chicken wire, plaster, burlap, sculptometal and anything they could get their hands on. Some unusual details went into the construction, and some left-over dryer exhaust pipe, old work gloves filled with plaster for hands, an old wig from a mannequin hardened with sculptmetal, a plaster mask of an art student teacher, a sash from a parachute strap and a plume made out of cut sheet metal and ravelled rope. Top Right—Scott Partridge ponders at the hours of labor that went into carving Cathy's totem pole. Above right—Senior Henry Brissette, one of our outstanding art students was often seen arranging art shows in the Media Center. He is shown labeling a painting by Thomas Overby. The art department will miss Henry's contributions to the art program as well as his enthusiastic cooperation in anything and everything of a creative nature done in the school. ## CLASS OF '80

Mrs. Gail Young looks for future basketball players among her sixth grade students.

When the doors opened for the 1973-74 school year, there were many new and inquisitive faces. Probably most of the sixth graders were utterly bewildered at the size of Clover Hill and more than a few got lost. Some of the more fortunate newcomers had older brothers or sisters to guide them while others relied on teachers or student guides to lead them around. But by the time the bell rang for homeroom all of the sixth graders were settled down in their classes and full of hope for new discoveries in a new school.

CLASS OF '76

Mrs. Shumate, orchestra teacher, instructs students on proper techniques for playing the trombone.

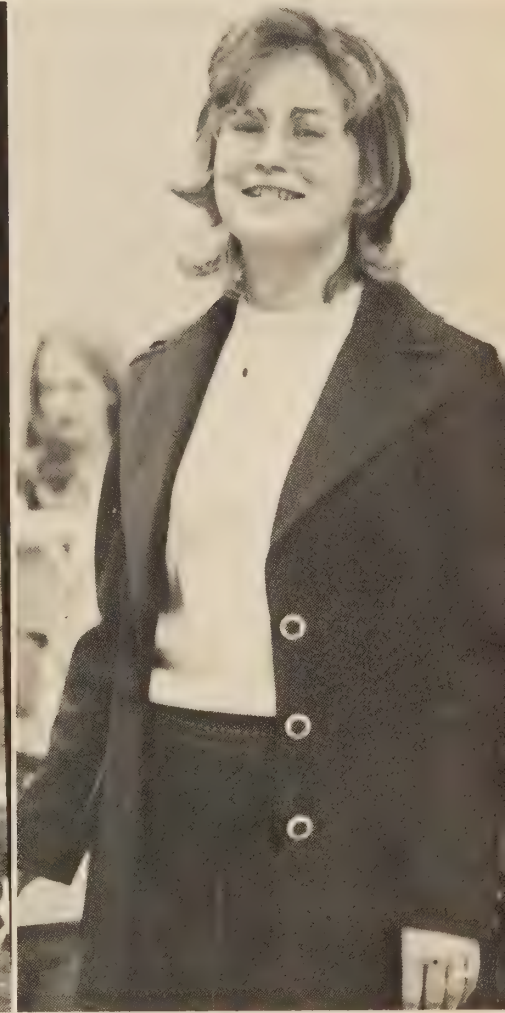

Concentration is a necessary element in being a good band performer. Diligent students Mike Varnier, Myron Safritt and Ray Whitlock practice many hours.

Mr. Owen Fahrney, Music Department, proudly announces the songs to be performed for the members of the Booster Club by the concert band.

Varsity Cheerleader Pam Roberts, escorted by her father, was a sophomore Homecoming Princess.

Despite her busy schedule, General Business teacher Mrs. Carolyn Baughan finds time for a friendly smile.

Top — Information bulletin boards compensate for the small size of the seminar room where Miss Maria Baber holds her French classes.
 Center — Open classroom affords view of Mrs. Joan Gleason as she teaches math to tenth graders.
 Bottom — Mrs. Deborah Kyles tastes punch prepared by F.H.A. students for tea party during HFA Week.

GAIL GRIFFIN ATTENDS GOVERNOR'S SCHOOL FOR THE GIFTED

Last summer, selected junior and senior students throughout the state participated in the first session of the Governor's School for the gifted. These students attended classes in three separate locations: the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond, the Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg and Mary Baldwin College in Staunton.

Participants were chosen by a committee from nominations made by the schools. For every 500 Senior High students each school was allowed to nominate one candidate. Selections were made from a broad range of interest areas, such as music, art, drama and science, narrowing down to the allotted number. Clover Hill, with its first year enrollment of 297 Senior High School students, was hard pressed to select one representative from several students nominated. All nominees were outstanding in their own fields and were of equally superior academic ability. Our final choice was Gail Griffin noted for her dramatic performance which won her state-wide recognition last year.

Participants in the Governor's School were given a choice of concentration in the subject of their preference. Mary Baldwin Campus concentrated on science; Mary Washington featured the fine and performing arts, the social and natural sciences and the humanities. Virginia Museum students engaged in the fine and performing arts with a certain degree of overlapping between all three locations.

Modern dance was one of the elective classes chosen by Gail. Students were encouraged to participate in activities they do not normally engage in.

Field trips to places of cultural and historical interest and participation in activities beyond their wildest expectation led to a high degree of motivation in all areas. Asked to comment on her summer venture, Gail said: "Fantastic, there are no words that can describe the feeling of being in such a group, it's something that must be experienced."

Motto of Class of 1974

President of the graduating class, Deb Moore, extends a welcome greeting.

And every well organized society, there are dedicated members and graduation is no exception. Mr. Allen Shigh, class sponsor answers some last minute questions posed by Wynne Ball.

THE PROCESSIONAL

Vicky Hensley delivers Salutatorian address on the graduation theme: "THE ROAD IS LONG". Also on the speakers platform are Deana Hembrick, SCA President; The Reverend Calvin Eaves and the Reverend Joel Rackley.

THE ROAD IS LONG . . .
MAY IT BE PAVED
WITH HAPPINESS AND SUCCESS!

Luther Leake, Class Valedictorian, accepts congratulations from Mr.
Robert V. Lewis, Principal.

Lorren Crawley receives from Mr. Lewis.

Peaceful, serious, expressions fit the mood of the solemn occasion.

Framed in bonds Carolyn Banton and Cathy Cox await the magic moment.

Trudy Beck adjusts her National Honor Society cowl as she lines up for processional.

THE REWARDS OF TWELVE SUCCESSFUL YEARS...

...the end of our childhood and the beginning of our future...
Valedictorian Luther Leake
sums up Graduation.

Right—Luther receives the Kiwanis Club ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AWARD and the PRINCIPAL'S AWARD sponsored by the Ruritan Club of Chesterfield County. This award is bestowed on the one senior who has contributed the most for the betterment and growth of the school, by giving both time and effort in many varied activities some of which brought the highest honors to Clover Hill. Luther was also the recipient of a merit scholarship from the American Tobacco Company.

RURITAN AND KIWANIS AWARDS

I DARE YOU AWARD

The American Youth Foundation bestows this award in recognition of character and leadership qualities in young people and to encourage and challenge them to lead creative, purposeful lives. Henry Brissette and Susan Lane are the recipients of this award.

FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP

Tommy Rudd is granted this scholarship as a student who manifests ambition, motivation, potential, stability, and integrity.

SCA AWARD

In recognition for active support and participation in the SCA and other school activities, Eva Seymour's service and loyalty are rewarded with this award.

BOOSTER CLUB SCHOLARSHIP

Academic excellence and total involvement in the school program are some of the reasons why Kenny Hall and Cathy Cox received the Booster Club Scholarship. Cathy was also selected for the American Revolution Good Citizen Award sponsored by the D.A.R.

AMERICAN LEGION ORATORICAL CONTEST AWARD

Other award winning seniors: Vicky Hensley—Academic Scholarship to Longwood; Chris McBride—Scholarship to University of Virginia; Alan Sadler—Tuition Scholarship to University of Richmond; Gloradine Hembrick—Scholarship to University of Virginia; Deborah Lynn Thomas—General Mills Award; Jean Martin—Scholarship from the Richmond Association of Legal Secretaries

In behalf of Post 186, Midlothian, the American Legion recognizes Donald Jamison for his outstanding contributions in oratory and extemporaneous speaking.

CONGRATULATIONS, GIFTS, FOND FAREWELLS, AND A BIT OF NOSTALGIA...

Coleen Handwerk and Eva Seymour receive congratulations and gifts from Nancy Boyd and Marty Gilliam.

Nostalgia begins as Susan Lane accompanies the chorus for the last time as a student at Clover Hill.

Mr. William Bottoms dons cook's apron to stir pot of sauce for Spaghetti Supper. Mrs. Dot Bass joins students Ellen Chumney, Diane Reynolds, Steve Carson and Butch Clarke watching track events. We see Mrs. Bass more often behind the concession counter during athletic events.

CLOVER HILL BOOSTERS SUPPORT SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Right — Spaghetti suppers are rapidly becoming a fund raising stand-by for the Booster Club. Sharing this tasty community effort, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Claude join Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winckler during November Spaghetti Supper. Mr. Winckler is president of the club. Below — First vice-president Mr. Kermel Burchett joins the spaghetti serving line while Shelly and Mrs. Doris Hamlett await their turn. Center — Signing up new members at the door, second vice-president Mrs. Anne Leake is always on hand to greet new arrivals. Far Right — An anxious moment during basketball game finds Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hackworth as spectators rather than hard at work at the concession stand.

The largest geographical district in Chesterfield County; an area of 180.87 square miles of the 446.41 square miles in the county; farmlands, remote rural areas; suburban developments, grouped and isolated dwellings: this is the Clover Hill community. People from all walks of life, of different occupations, religious and political affiliations, the people of Clover Hill have one common bond: Clover Hill High School. Their children or their neighbor's children attend our school and this creates a climate for unity and community spirit.

Perhaps our strongest evidence of community spirit lies in the Clover Hill Booster Club, an organization of parents and friends dedicated to serve our school and community. This group organizes activities that help cement community bonds, such as: running the concession stand, spaghetti suppers to raise funds that pay for the band's uniforms, baseball bleachers and a whirlpool. They also sponsor the athletic and the activities banquet in which students who have distinguished themselves in any way receive recognition from the community.

One other important aspect of community spirit lies in the response of our local merchants whose contribution in purchasing advertising space makes the publication of this annual possible. The Ducemus speaks for Clover Hill in expressing appreciation to all those who contribute to the success of the school activities and particularly to those who give of themselves in true community spirit.

Community Spirit

CLOVER HILL COMMUNITY SPIRIT IS SHOWN IN MANY WAYS

Below — Dedicated members of Manchester Rescue Squad Ron Ely, Jim Bailey and Fred Broyles, attend football game, not for recreation but to provide service if needed. Fred is a Clover Hill graduate. Bottom — Countless hours of summer work went into sewing parts for the band's Cavalier uniforms. Shown working on weskits are Mrs. Charlotte Martin, Mrs. Pat Furr, Mrs. Joyce Thomas, (Kneeling) Mrs. Evelyn Whitlock and Mrs. Lucille Lane, some of the ladies who gave of their time and efforts. Mrs. Thomas also made the shirts for the band. Below — Without any fanfare or desire for recognition, sports enthusiast Mr. Irvin Horner, Clover Hill Supervisor and Chairman of the Board donated the fence for the baseball field. Mr. Horner is often seen at the school games.

During the evening hours the parents showed their community spirit by getting their children off to school in the dark.

DIVISION OF THE  MANUFACTURING CO.

Orange, Virginia 22960 / Telephone 703-672-2800

WE'RE THE BIG KID ON THE BLOCK NOBODY EVER HEARD OF

If you've never heard of Virginia Metal Products, you're not alone. Most people haven't. The situation kind of galls us though, considering that we're the second largest manufacturer of prefabricated walls in the world, the oldest (founded in 1820) and the largest architectural metal fabricator in the South (with more than 24,000,000 pounds of finished products shipped during the last year). You may not have heard of us because we don't manufacture consumer products like

"sexy" toothpaste, or "dry look" hair lotion or "squeezeable" toilet tissue. But you don't have to look far to find what we do make. We designed, engineered, manufactured and installed the Twinline DF-410 prefabricated walls right in Clover Hill High School. If you'd like to prove to yourself that we actually do exist, you're invited to come and visit us. In this way you could keep us from being one of the best kept secrets in the South.

SCHOOL SPIRIT IS ... ENTHUSIASTIC CHEERLEADERS

Right Top — Long hours of practice twice a week after school hours are necessary before performance at games as shown here by Lona Bowen, Phyllis West, Lynn Oliver and Eva Seymour.
Below — Karen Finn adds a little soul to our cheering squad.
Center — Cindy Cason, Lona Bowen, Phyllis West and Sherry Alley practice after school.

First Row — Sherry Alley, Linda Vasey
Second Row — Lynn Oliver, Phyllis West, Eva Seymour, Lona Bowen, Pam Roberts

School Spirit is . . . What is it? . . . Where is it? . . . Why is it? . . . Intangible . . . elusive . . .
you know it exists . . . you know it is there . . .
you feel it . . . you sense it . . . it is all around you . . . within you . . . for you are a part of it, for the Spirit of Clover Hill is you:

students who care*

teams that strive clubs that have a reason for existing teachers to whom teaching is more than a paying job

a community that supports the school

All the people involved and working to breathe life into a building, making it not just a school, but a cherished Alma Mater!

*If you bought a yearbook, you care!

School Spirit IS...

OUR FIRST "REAL" HOMECOMING

Home Coming is . . . a time for fellowship . . . a chance to renew old memories and friendships with former classmates and teachers . . . the thrill of returning to the Alma Mater . . . the joy of cheering for the home team. Last year's Homecoming celebration was an attempt to establish traditions and develop school spirit. With a school a few months old, we were all here, there was no one returning HOME. This year it was different, we welcomed our first alumni with a colorful display of marching units in Cavalier costumes and a seasoned team capable of winning. This was a real Homecoming and Homecoming is School Spirit at its best!

Diane Wilson is overcome with joy as she is crowned Homecoming Queen by previous queen, Debbie Jones.

Excitement builds as the moment draws nearer when a new Homecoming Queen will be announced as shown by Dee Kiersen, Diane Wilson and their fathers.

Top left — Mary Daniel, escorted by her father, parades across the football field to take her place amongst the other Princesses.

SCHOOL SPIRIT IS ... A GOOD PEP RALLY

Mrs. Mary Jo Lux, English teacher, (right and below) backs up cheerleaders, encouraging the crowd to shout with her signs. School Spirit is ...

School spirit is . . . having faith in one's team and always thinking that it is number one . . .

CAVALIERS

Above — School spirit is . . . forgetting how cold or how hot it is and yelling for the home team till your throat is sore . . .

Left — School spirit is . . . cheerleaders who think of fun things to liven up pep rallies . . .

MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR

There is more hard work than magic in transforming a drab gymnasium into a fairytale scene complete with castles, gurgling fountains and barefoot, flowing-robed attendants. The Junior Class outdid itself in hosting this year's prom and creating an atmosphere of magical mystery as a parting gesture to the graduating class.

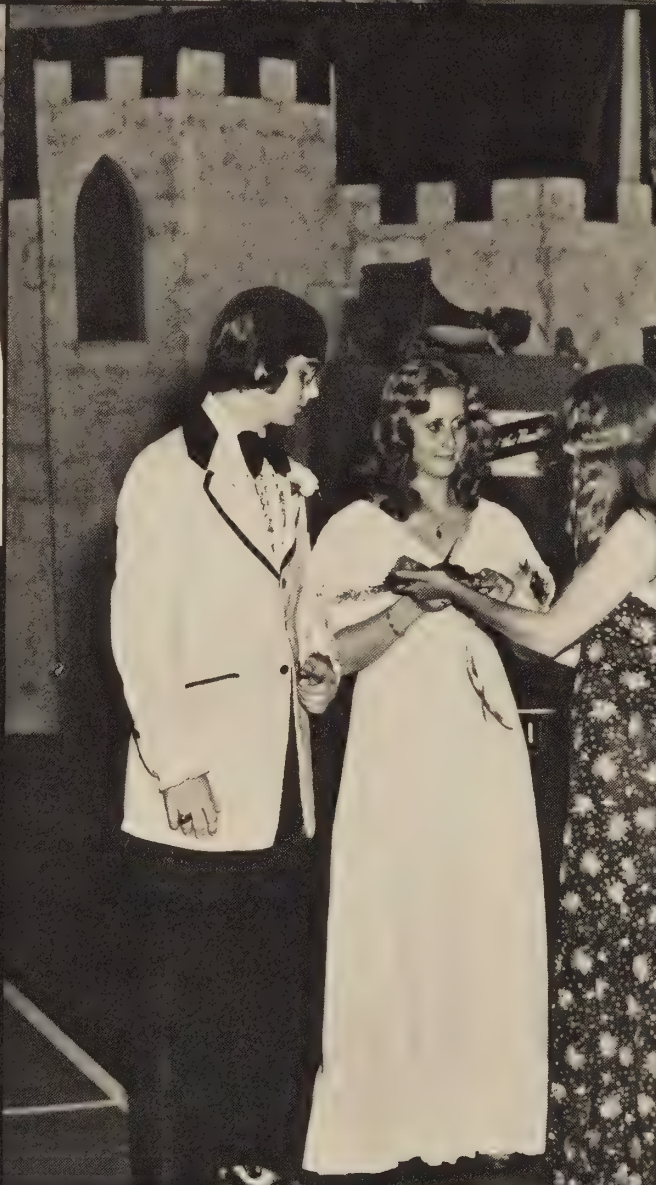

The realities of being a Prom decoration chairman is experienced by Beth Condrey, graciously assisted by drama teacher Mrs. Roberts.

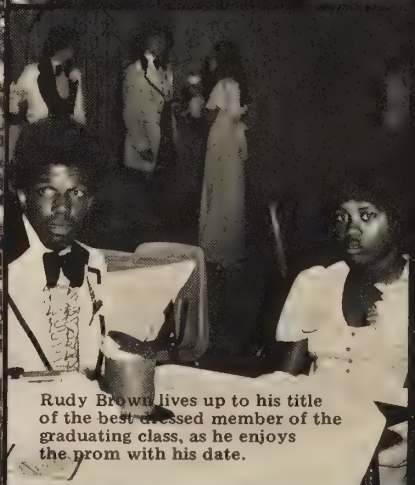

Class co-sponsor Mr. Friedman has a minute's change of jeans with decoration committee.

Above—A fairy godmother must have waved a frantic magic wand to change Bety Condrey's and Stuart Harris' paint splattered blue jeans into formal attire.

In need of an extra hand, Doug Kieper works diligently putting up polyethylene to cover gym walls.

Rudy Brown lives up to his title of the best dressed member of the graduating class, as he enjoys the prom with his date.

Right—Senior Deb Moore escorted by Sid Martin receives flowers from acting Junior Class president Laura Lane.

DEB AND MAURY CROWNEI

Maury Beck and Deb Moore have a taste of royalty after being chosen to reign as King and Queen of the Prom by their fellow classmates.

Mr. Pearman tries to get Senior Council to line up for figure.

A moment to remember: the Senior Class Council stands together for the last time as a group.

THERE IS A NEIGHBOR WHO CARES...

Learning Spanish is just a part of the fun of learning a foreign language. Vicky Hensley plays a tune and sings with Linda Sneed and David Wilkinson.

La Bamba, a Latin American dance, is tried by Linda Sneed, Rose Ellis, and Mr. Rickman.

Learning about the culture of Spain and Latin American cultures is one of the main purposes of the Spanish Club. During Pan American month a number of speakers from different Spanish-speaking countries lectured to the Spanish classes and showed scenes of their native countries.

The club also contributed some musical numbers during the Foreign Languages program presented for the Booster Club. A highlight of the year was a trip to El Cid Restaurant to sample authentic foods from Spain and to see a flamenco floor show.

Students had the opportunity to practice their French when the French Club hosted a Swiss Agricultural student in a visit to Clover Hill. As most of the Swiss people, Anita spoke several languages fluently and was very intent in perfecting her English. Consequently when the students spoke to her in French she responded in English.

This attractive Swiss Miss has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baber in Cartersville learning about farm life in this country.

Highlights of the French Club activities included a trip to the National Art Gallery in Washington, D.C. to view French Art masterpieces. A French tasting party took place when students had to attend classes on a Saturday to make up time missed due to snow. Each student prepared a different recipe so that everyone had a chance to taste a variety of French foods. The club participated in a Foreign Languages Program presented to the Booster Club singing French songs accompanied on the guitar by member, Diane Reynolds.

Anita, Swiss Agricultural student, is given a tour of our school building by Diane Reynolds.

VICA CLUB

VICA stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, a national organization for students enrolled in vocational industrial education. This aspect of education is represented at Clover Hill as well as in several other County high schools in the ICT program (Industrial Cooperative Training). ICT is a credit class which provides vocational industrial training opportunities for students who are at least 16 years old. One of the requirements of this class is that the student must have a job and he receives credit for the performance of his duties away from school.

COLOPHON

Ducemus 1974, the second edition of Clover Hill's annual consisted of 400 copies printed and bound by the Delmar Printing Company. The company's sales representative and photographer for individual and group photographs was Mr. Jeff Overby. The silk screen cover design repeated in the dividers resulted from the combined efforts of Henry Brissette and Mrs. Cen Waters, adviser. The type used for copy throughout the book is Univers 11 pt. bold with the first letter 38-A 36 pt. Copy on dividers and colophon is 12 pt. News Gothic Bold with the first letter in 36 pt. 608-A and art work titles are Chartpak Ancient Egyptian 24 pt. Headlines are in Melior Bold 776-A 24 pt., captions in Century 6

pt. medium, and sports scores 10 pt. Univers Bold. The index portion of the Senior Class and Faculty statistics is in 8 pt. News Gothic with names in bold face and the balance of the index in 5 pt. Agate. The paper stock is 80 lb. grade 1 gloss enamel and the end sheets 65 lb. cover weight stock. The cover, silk screened in two colors on Fabrikoid material is 160 pt. binders board rounded and backed with head and foot bands Smythe sewed. The cooperation of the administration, teachers, and staff and particularly the business department is greatly appreciated for they contributed to the publication of this annual in THE TRUE SPIRIT OF CLOVER HILL!
